

The "Trianon"

Written by Administrator

Monday, 31 January 2011 10:29 - Last Updated Monday, 03 December 2012 10:21

The building which is known locally as the Trianon, from the name of the cinema,

It is the oldest mosque still surviving was strongly probably the second half of the 16th century. It date

It differs from the great mosque in Syntagma Square as in the latter the Ottoman sty

The old mosque is square and is topped with a semicircular dome covered by three small domes, but o

The "Trianon"

Written by Administrator

Monday, 31 January 2011 10:29 - Last Updated Monday, 03 December 2012 10:21

During the time of the second Venetian occupation, the mosque, which was used for Catholic worship

The "Trianon"

Written by Administrator

Monday, 31 January 2011 10:29 - Last Updated Monday, 03 December 2012 10:21

From 1922 until the beginning of the 1930s, the square was used as a market place. In 1933, the square was paved and the market was moved to the surrounding streets. The square was then used for various public events and performances. In 1938, the square was renamed "Trianon" in honor of the Treaty of Trianon. The square was then used for various public events and performances. In 1938, the square was renamed "Trianon" in honor of the Treaty of Trianon.

The exact location of the Map "Trianon" can be found in Section